Metchosin, B.C. - Pearson College UWC'S 2022-23 Impact Report is out and the annual publication showcases the global school's influence locally and across the globe!

From alumni making a positive difference like Victoria Mayor Marianne Alto to the Minister of Environment, Climate Change and Technology for the Maldives Aminath Shauna to the first cohort of the Climate Action Leadership Diploma (CALD) program students from 11 different nations (including Canada!), "Pearsonites" continue to show that this modest-sized school punches well above its weight class.

For nearly a half-century, Pearson, the only Canadian school in the worldwide United World College network, has brought together students from across Canada and from 160 nations and territories around the world.

In that time, no less than 15 students from the school have been named Rhodes Scholars but, more significantly, the vast majority of young leaders and changemakers to attend the College did so thanks to scholarships made possible by individuals and organizations who believe in the power of a global, academically-challenging and experientially-exhilarating education.
